format. They are very good for tests, but don't generally do much else. If you want to manipulate scripts to test your business logic, then I recommend the scripting tools in the latest versions of the AE tools, like using the Perl syntax of a model, and then defining functions and processes to test your scripts. You can program steps and sequences to test your steps and sequences easily, so it's a lot easier to test your applications than trying to test your applications with a manual process. If you have a logical scheme that works in a specific format, I recommend you program it as a step, then call that step in your custom template. For example, if your step and sequence is that it costs $5 for an item, if you want to test that it costs $5, then you can use the StepTools in the latest AE tools, which will generate a step that costs 5 and a sequence that costs 5, then you can call that in a process with the defined parameter to test if it costs $5.

The world's biggest fund manager has stepped up its war against fossil fuels after becoming the first to divest its $300bn (£210bn) wealth fund from the energy industry.

BlackRock has put aside $1.5bn in cash and shares in US companies as part of a broad move to ditch environmentally damaging fuels, which have contributed to rising carbon emissions and temperatures. The world's biggest manager of hedge funds – which invest in big funds – has also appointed a chief executive of solar technology to run an office in San Francisco and is exploring ways to “own” renewable energy sources as a power source, including wind and solar. In the US, where it manages about $5.1tn of assets, BlackRock has been urging investors to back efforts to curb emissions by installing solar panels at homes and businesses. It has hired a chief executive of One Sun and launched the Black What's New in the?

Is your siemens step7 programming new? If so, you might be wondering how to create the programmed matrix using matrices, code or the more modern Awl files. We have now produced an Excel Sheet to help you. NOTE: THIS IS A STEP 7 PROGRAMMER APP ONLY, if you are not using step 7, the format will not be compatible. This software is intended to create a siemens step7 program which contains a matrix, and only needs to be downloaded into step

7, if you are new to Siemens Step 7 Programming, then this software will be of use to you. Use this software to create siemens step7 programming code from any simple excel matrix, you can then either import it into your step 7 account, or export it into a awl file, which can be uploaded onto the Siemens on-line step7 programming site. Download the file and double click the file name to open. Once opened, fill in the information requested, then click OK. Click the Run button at the bottom left of the screen and you should see the program matrix appear in the message box. Click OK and you are done. You now have a siemens step7 program matrix you can download to your step 7 account or upload into the Siemens on-line step7 programming site, if you wish. Please note: This program should only be used to create a step7 program from a simple matrix, it does not produce a working matrix for a PLC. The instructions are designed for the simple matrix type, you must create a test matrix before using this program to create a step7 program matrix, to save time. This program is for use with Excel 2003/2007, it does not support anything earlier. If you are having trouble with the instructions, or if you have any problems please ask for help on the internet. Downloadable Software Easy-AI for Siemens Step7 uses the Easy-AI matrix table software to generate Step7 programs. It can be used to create a new matrix, or import an existing matrix to your siemens step7 account, saving you the bother of entering the matrix manually. Visit the Easy-AI

Matrix Software Easy-AI in Excel is a useful tool which generates the programming parameters automatically, allowing you to create matrix strings in seconds! You can enter the matrix using any standard spreadsheet, including Excel, Access, Open Office and of course Word, and if you use the program on a regular basis it will save you the pain of entering the matrix manually, every time.
